Bug fixes

Supplier relationship removal notification

In the previous version, an issue existed where users could remove a Supplier relationship without addressing associated resource requests, leading to potential data inconsistencies.

We have addressed this issue by introducing a notification. Now, when attempting to remove a Supplier relationship, users will be notified to first remove any related resource requests.

This bug fix ensures a more accurate and error-free process in managing Supplier relationships.

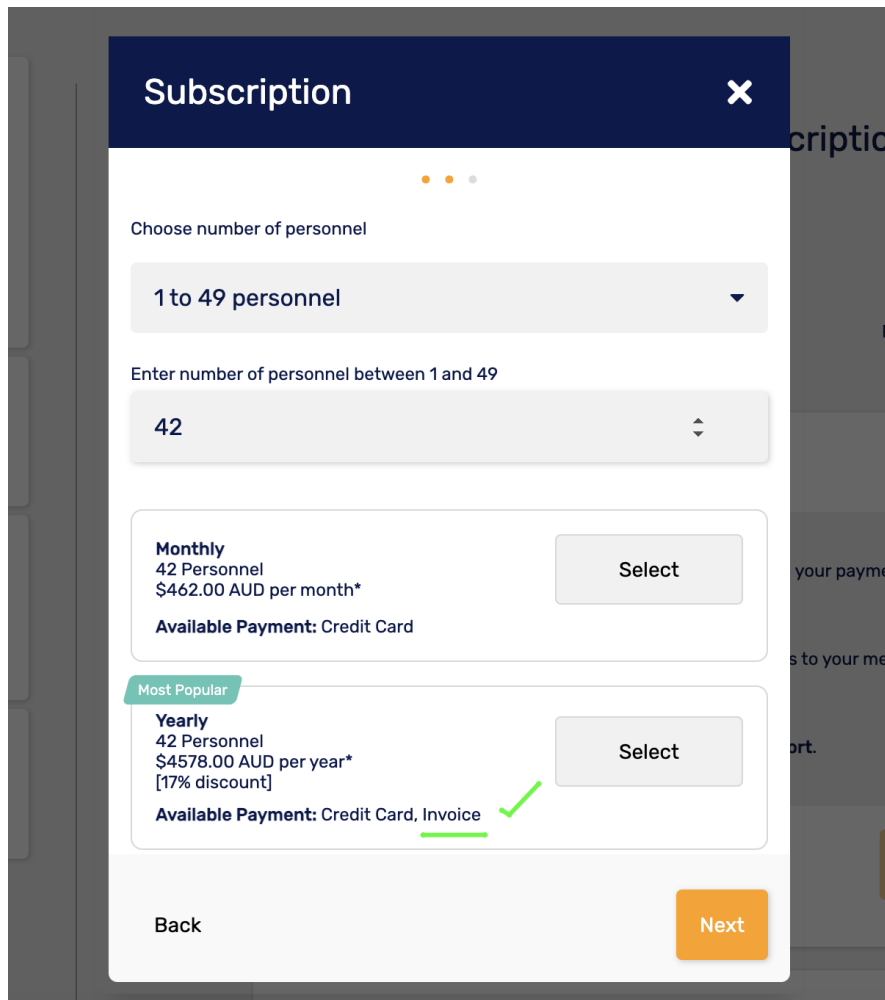

Annual invoice payment option

In order to enhance flexibility in annual payments exceeding $5000 AUD, MyPass provides an annual invoice option for our Business Partners.
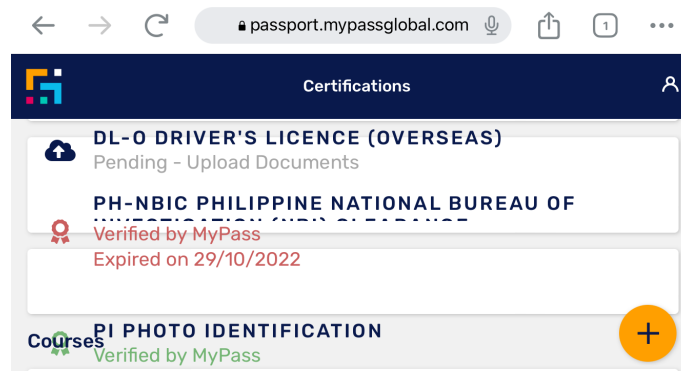

However, a recent pricing adjustment inadvertently omitted this option when selecting a personnel count between 42 and 49.

The issue has been addressed, and the fix now ensures that the annual invoice option is accessible when specifying a personnel count within the range of 42 to 49.

Personnel Certificate alignment on iPhone

there was an issue with the alignment of certificates within the Personnel Passport on iPhones. This misalignment caused text overlap, making it challenging to read and understand the certificates and their status as they extended beyond the designated box.

We've addressed this bug, and the fix ensures proper alignment, allowing the certificate and its status to be clearly presented within the specified box. Users can now easily read and comprehend the information displayed on iPhone devices.
