Compliance Dashboard (Early Beta Access)

This early access Beta feature is initially available to a small number of Australian customers.

New Live and Shareable Compliance Reporting

If you spend hours each week exporting data and reformatting spreadsheets for each of your clients or site supervisors, this one is for you. The Compliance Dashboard replaces that work entirely — the dashboard is the report.

Select a Project as your scope and you'll see your compliance at a glance: total personnel, how many are compliant, how many aren't, and how many have requirements expiring. Beneath that, a matrix of personnel against their requirements, colour-coded by status with expiry dates clearly visible, so you can see exactly where the risks are before they become mobilisation delays or site access issues.

You can filter by personnel, role, expiry window (30, 60 or 90 days), switch between Recruitment and Compliance views, toggle between Mandatory and Desired requirements, and show or hide columns so you're only looking at what matters.

Secure External Sharing

Once you've filtered to the view you need, you can share it directly with your client — no spreadsheet, no email attachment, no personnel data leaving the platform.

Enter the email addresses for who you want to share the dashboard with. They don't need a MyPass account; they verify their email address with a one-time verification code, and then see a read-only version of exactly the view you configured. Nothing outside of that view is accessible to them.

You stay in control of access. Set a validity period of up to 30 days and access expires automatically, and you can add an optional message to give recipients context. Sharing externally is governed by a dedicated user permission, so you decide who in your business can do it.

The data your recipients see is live and refreshed hourly. That means when a client calls after an incident, or asks for evidence before a mobilisation, you can send them current compliance evidence in under a minute rather than compiling a spreadsheet that's out of date by the time it arrives.

We're providing early Beta access to a small number of Australian customers. Reach out to your Account Manager if you are interested.
